

Stress of geriatric patient caregivers

Ebaid, Rasha Abdel-Munaem

Ain-Shams Univ., Cairo (EGY). Fac. of Med.

Thesis ; M.Sc. 2000

This case study included thirty subjects complaining from problems related to caregiving to elderly subjects. The results revealed that caregivers stress is caused by a combination of both elderly determinants and caregiver determinants, modification of elderly and caregivers factors contributed to a significant decline in the degree of stress and the formal support system in the studied cases provided some help but it was insufficient and disorganized