

A comparative study of dynamic dimensions in Egyptian patients with anxiety and depressive disorders

Bayyoumi, Huda Abdu

Cairo Univ. (EGY). Fac. of Med.

M.D. 2007

There is a long standing debate about the relationship between anxiety and depressive disorders, mostly at a descriptive level.

This study concerned with possible differences between anxiety and depressive disorders at a dynamic level, mainly three dimensions, defense mechanism, parental styles and self-esteem.